Earthquake Toll Reaches 22; Rail-Roads Destroyed

Shock Felt Many Miles—Property Damage Is Heavy

Fire Follows Earthquake Adding to Terror of Citizens

RAILROADS ARE OUT Many Homeless in Wide Area Visited Early Thursday

RANGOON, Burma.—(AP)—Twenty-two persons were killed and numbers injured in two earthquake shocks over this territory. The first shock was felt at 10:20 Wednesday night and was followed by another heavier shock at approximately 1:20 a. m. Thursday.

Property damage over a wide area is said to be heavy, although a complete check as to the amount is obtainable. A district 150 miles north of Rangoon is said to have been the hardest hit.

Buildings in Pyu, a small town are reported to have been on fire and burning fiercely. The courthouse and other buildings have been destroyed by the fire. Many others that were not burned were demolished by the shock of the quake.

Several miles of railroads were torn away and transportation into these areas has been made impossible. Many residents over a large area have been made homeless.

Kiwanians Hear Dr. J. L. Cannon

Principal Speaker Pays High Tribute to the Local Clubs

Rev. J. L. Cannon, pastor of the First Methodist church, paid high tribute to service clubs, in the principal speech at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis Club, at Hotel Barlow Thursday noon. "No other organization," he said "so aptly fills a definite need as an outlet for expression, and of service to the community, as Kiwanis and other service clubs. He pointed out how the spirit of fellowship, service to the community, and the spirit of good fun tended to round out the lives of its members.

"The spirit of play and of co-operation should be instilled early in life," he said. He told how few if any youths were to be found in houses of correction, or before juvenile courts who had the advantages of supervised play and constructive good fun in their childhood. He complimented the club upon securing Rufus Herndon for its president next year, telling how the Herndon family has been very favorable known in Sevier county for fifty years, to his knowledge. Park Fisher had charge of the program. Officers for the following year and nominated at the last meeting were elected today.

Rufus Herndon has charge of the program next week. The meeting is to be held at his home. Since Thursday is the opening day of the Farmers Short Course, a program in which the Kiwanis club is interested, the meeting will be held Wednesday noon. The Hope club ranked second in attendance in the district during October and November, second only to Hot Springs. Rev. "Sniles" Strasser asked that the club strive to surpass their club during this month, as their final tribute to Dewey Hendrix, who completes his term as president.

United States Placed Among Aviation Leaders

LONDON.—(UP)—The United States, Canada and Australia lead the world in civil flying, according to C. R. Fairley, president of the Royal Aeronautical Society. These three countries also show a rate of expansion greater than in any other part of the world.

Fairley says that the United States and British Empire have nine times the amount of unsubsidized civil aviation as subsidized commercial flying. The Royal Aeronautical Society head believes that subsidized flying such as that encountered in Germany and France does not prove an unfair advantage to countries where a great bulk of commercial aviation is left to private enterprise.

Sullivan was found guilty of second degree manslaughter and sentenced to a year in the penitentiary at hard labor and given a fine of $500.

To Dedicate New School Building

Governor Parnell Delivers Address—Several Other Speakers

*NEW EDINBURGH, Ark.—(AP)—One of the largest consolidated schools in Cleveland county is to be formally dedicated here Friday.

Governor Harvey Parnell, a native of this section, will deliver the dedicatory address. Fred Moore, Pine Bluff school official, will be another speaker.

The new Edinburg school will have an enrollment of 350 pupils and a teaching staff of 13. Five bus routes will serve the community in transporting pupils.

The academic program, in addition to prerequisites in elementary and secondary subjects, includes classes in music and expression.

6 Children Saved From Starvation

RUSSELLVILLE.—(AP)—Six children the oldest 10 years and the youngest 15 months, were snatched from probable starvation at Crow Mountain recently by County Judge J. Q. Hill. Judge Hill and Mrs. Cledys Boswell, of the county health unit, found the children in a cabin where they had been abandoned.

Turnips, gnawed raw, were the only food, while a dwindling pile of wood kept a fire going on the hearth. Two of the children were out hunting food for the six.

They were placed in the county home and provided with clothing and shoes until provisions are made for their future.

Fire Destroys Oil Plant in New York

Gasoline, Crude Oil, Turpentine and Plant Consumed in Blaze

NEW YORK.—(AP)—Fire in the Pratt Works of the Standard Oil company, on the Brooklyn waterfront, broke out for the second time shortly before noon Thursday, after being brought under control once, earlier in the day.

Stored in the plant was 200,000 gallons of gasoline, crude oil and turpentine which was destroyed, together with the tanks and containers. The fire mass poured into the East river causing a great fire hazard to buildings located along the river bank. Officials of the company estimate the loss at between $250,000 and $500,000, while officers from the fire department reported an earlier estimate at a million dollar loss.

Father Follows His Son in Death

Charles Elia Second Victim of Explosion at Dumas City Plant

EL DORADO.—Charles Elia 38 oil field engineer, died Wednesday from injuries received in a blast at Dumas City Monday, which resulted in the death of his son, Marvin Elia, 20, Tuesday morning.

The elder Elia was working in an engine room containing an "air jammer" and a quantity of storage gasoline. His son had stepped in for a visit when the air jammer exploded and set off the gasoline. The building was shattered and both were hurled several feet and burned fatally.

Joint funeral services were held Thursday, at their home in Dumas City. Surviving are Mrs. C. Elia and seven children. Young Elia was unmarried.

Hiatian Plans Statues For U. S. Senators

FORT AU PRINCE, Haiti.—(UP)—Statues erected in honor of Senator William H. King and William E. Borah will grace the tropical scenery here eventually if Joseph Jolibois Jr., newly elected president of the Chamber of Deputies has his way.

"As soon as Haiti becomes independent," Jolibois told the United Press, "the government should erect statues in honor of these two men in view of their long defense of the independence of this country."

A. B. Banks Made His Start as a Tinner

Storm Center of November Bank Crash Born 65 Years Ago at Fordyce

By SAM S. FARRINGTON
UNITED PRESS STAFF CORRESPONDENT
LITTLE ROCK.—(UP)—Fifty years ago a tinner in a small Arkansas town attracted the attention of his fellow townsmen with the establishment of a small insurance company.

Today the same man—Aloysius Burton Banks—is the center of statewide interest, the result of a financial upheaval that rocked the entire state. The wave of hysteria that carried two of his insurance companies, the Home Accident and Home Fire, into receivership, and caused 40 banks in which he was interested to close their doors along with 30 independent institutions, jarred the financial foundation of Arkansas for a week—November 17-22.

Banks, who stood out among the state's financial figure, was born 65 years ago in southern Arkansas. His first occupation was that of a tinner at Fordyce. Later he taught school and then branched into the building and loan business with a small agency at Fordyce.

With his building and loan enterprise he conducted a small insurance business, which developed so rapidly that he soon gave up the building and loan work and devoted his entire time to the insurance business. In 1900 he incorporated the Home Life and Accident insurance company, which formed the nucleus for the three com-

Woman and 3 Children Burned to Death in Morning Blaze

MONTVILLE, N. J.—(AP)—A woman and her three children were burned to death Friday, when their home, located in an isolated section of Montville, was destroyed by fire.

The dead are Mrs. Wanda Durkins, Mandelene Durkins 5, Joseph Durkins 3, and a child 6 years old whose name was not available.

J. Fredrick Durkins, husband and father, of the victims had left home only fifteen minutes before the blaze was discovered.

A defective chimney is believed to have been the cause of the blaze.

Iced Oxygen Latest Aid For Indigestion

LONDON.—(UP)—Iced oxygen for indigestion and other stomach troubles is the latest wrinkle in British medical circles and is said to be producing surprisingly satisfactory results. It is pleasant to swallow in the form of an oxygen soufflé with a few drops of lemon, or fruit juice sprinkled over it and serves the purpose of getting oxygen into the stomach without trouble.

This novelty in medicine was demonstrated at the London Medical Exhibition and was sampled by inquisitive visitors who were offered a drink of cool pearly foam and asked, "would you prefer lemon or orange flavor?"

panies established later. Several years ago Banks moved the headquarters for the Home companies to Little Rock and expanded by leaps and bounds. At the time the Home Accident and Hope Fire companies were thrown into receivership by the state insurance department they were operating in 13 states and transacting an immense volume of business.

After firmly establishing himself in the field of insurance, Banks widened his activities to the banking sphere, becoming president of the American Exchange Trust Company here and holding large blocks of stock in the A. B. Banks group, with units located in every section of the state.

The financier and his wife, Lottie Helms Banks, have five children. They live in modest luxury in a well appointed home in the exclusive residential district of Little Rock.

Banks' hobbies are golf and walking. Frequently he walks from his home to work and back at night. It long has been his custom to take a stroll, usually alone, in the evening. He is a Presbyterian elder and has been active in church for years. He is the oldest trustee of the University of Arkansas and has been a potential factor in the development of the state's various educational institutions.

Nashville Bank Is Suspended; Loans on Fruit Blamed

Planters Bank & Trust Co. Suspended Thursday For Five Days

AIDED BIG ORCHARD

Total Failure of the Peach Crop This Year Hurt Institution

LITTLE ROCK.—Suspension of the Planters Bank & Trust Co., of Nashville, Ark., for a five-day period, was announced Thursday by the state banking commissioner.

The Planters was the only banking house in Nashville, and was the chief depository for private and public business in Howard county.

Headed By Bell
George H. Bell, member of the construction committee in charge of the building of the new state hospital for nervous diseases, a director of the Arkansas State Chamber of Commerce and prominent in state banking and business circles, is president of the bank. W. H. Toland is chairman of the board.

R. G. Dickenson, assistant state banking commissioner, is quoted as saying that heavy withdrawals were responsible for the closing of the bank.

An effort will be made to reorganize the bank as was stated here. Hurt By Orchard Dickenson said the bank had made loans to the Highland Peach Orchard company, owners of the largest peach orchard in the world, and to smaller orchards. The peach crop in the Nashville area was badly damaged in 1929 by an attack of worms, and the 1930 crop was wiped out entirely by an early frost last spring.

The bank's statement in October showed capital and surplus of $155,000, and deposits of $579,000.

The Planters Bank & Trust Co. became the sole banking institution of Nashville when it absorbed the smaller Bank of Nashville by consolidation last summer.

As the suspension leaves Nashville entirely without banking facilities, it is regarded as fairly certain that new capital will be introduced and the bank reopened within a short time.

Accident Victim Dies in Hospital

Husband of Steele, Mo., Woman, Kills Self After Wounding Wife

MEMPHIS.—(AP)—Mrs. Charles J. Johnson, wife of a Steele, Mo., planter, died in a Memphis hospital Friday, from a bullet wound in her chest, said to have been caused by the accidental discharge of a pistol in the hands of her husband. The shooting occurred at a hunting lodge near New Madrid, Mo.

Charles Johnson, husband of the woman is dead of pistol wounds said to have been self inflicted. The body of Mrs. Johnson is to be taken to Steel, where the double funeral will take place.

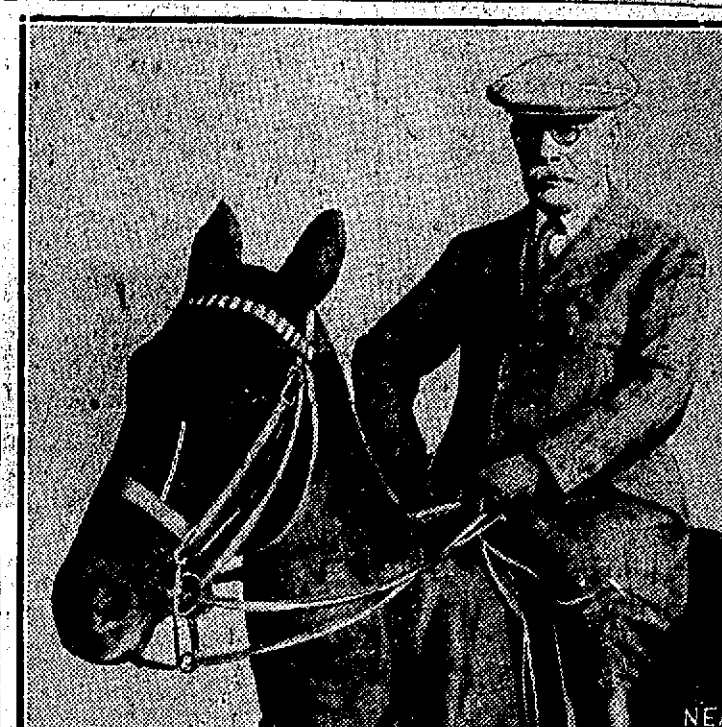

Newberry Johnson, a son of the couple, quoted his mother as saying that the shooting was accidental. Johnson was cleaning his pistol when it was fired. After which the grief stricken man turned the weapon upon himself. The shooting occurred Tuesday.

Lectures, Movies at Farm Meeting

Thousands Have Seen 2-Day Program Coming Here Dec. 11-12

Before arranging for the agricultural short course, which is to be held in Hope city hall on Thursday and Friday, December 11-12, in co-operation with the Agricultural Extension Department of the International Harvester company, local committees sponsoring the meeting satisfied themselves that the lectures and motion pictures will be entirely educational in nature and not advertise the Harvester company or any of its products.

This fact is amply substantiated by thousands of people and scores of newspapers in the many places where the meetings have been held. As indicating the value and purpose of the meetings, we quote the following from the Bamberg, S. C., Herald:

"Nothing has ever been held or shown in Bamberg which has been of more general instruction and information to the people of the county than the lectures and motion pictures presented here through the courtesy of the International Harvester company's extension service. Hundreds of people attended the meeting during the two days, and it is safe to say that not a single person went away feeling that his or her time had not been well spent.

"Any of the several lectures given by the experts was worth a liberal admission fee to hear. In fact, there are few of us who have not paid well to hear something interesting and profitable. The information and inspiration these speakers gave to the people of Bamberg entirely without charge.

"The motion pictures shown are not to be confused with advertising films frequently exhibited, but were animated depictions of life on the farm and in the home. Special attention was given to modern methods, thrift beautiful and attractive premises, as well as showing how these much-to-be-desired things may be obtained on any farm whose owner is ambitious to live better. Folks were made to feel like going home and taking a new start in life—real life in God's free air, where the possibilities for expansion, for elevation and for prosperity are endless and without limit.

"The work being done by the I. H. C. extension service is one to be appreciated by the people. Covering, as it does, all phases of home and farm activities, it is a genuine uplift service.

"The speakers easily class with any high priced chautauque lecturers ever heard here, and the messages they brought to the people surpassed anything else along this line that Bamberg has ever enjoyed.

"Throughout the course no mention was made of I. H. C. products, the only benefit accruing to the company being that which is derived by all business concerns when communities are made more prosperous, healthier and happier."

Special Judge To Okeh Sheriff Bond

John L. Wilson Obtains Opinion From Attorney General

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—County Judge John L. Wilson, of Hempstead county, elected sheriff of that county at the last election, was informed Thursday by Assistant Attorney General Walter L. Pope that to have his bond as sheriff properly approved, a special judge would have to be appointed and sit in the case.

This information was sent to Judge Wilson in answer to a letter from him saying that he had declined to approve his own bond.

It is understood there that the ruling was requested of the attorney general owing to the fact that the retiring county judge has to approve the bond of the new sheriff before the latter is sworn in. But in this instance they are one and the same man—John L. Wilson.

Counterfeiter Is Sought By Officers

Crude $10 Bill Was Passed at DeKalb, Texas, Recently

TEXARKANA.—A crude "$10 bill" fashioned with half of a $10 bill, half of a $1 bill, some paste and stage money was in the hands of Bowie county officers Wednesday while they opened an investigation to determine if the bill had been made in this district. The bill was passed off on a Texarkana man at DeKalb. He brought the bill to Sheriff Henry Brooks, Wednesday morning, and Deputy Sheriff White opened a probe at DeKalb.

Officers declare that the counterfeiters fashioned two $10 bills from a ten and a one. Each ten and each one were sliced into two parts. The face of the ten was pasted to the one and the back of the ten was pasted to the other half of the one. This left two bills with $10 on one side and $1 on the other. The counterfeiter then cut -100 marks off of some stage money and pasted them on the one dollar sides of the bills.

The work was some of the crudest ever seen here but officers agreed that the counterfeiter would have little trouble disposing of the bills, especially in making change. When passed to the receiver with the $10 side up it was impossible to detect the counterfeit and only close scrutiny would detect it on the other side.

Officers indicated that department of justice agents will be called in to work on the case.

$250,000 Building Program Complete Ceremony Sunday

Notables of the State Will Attend Celebration of Opening

THE CAPACITY IS 500

Buildings Named For Men Who Have Headed Institution

BOONEVILLE.—(AP)—Ceremonies marking the completion of a $250,000 building program of the Arkansas Tuberculosis sanatorium will be held here Sunday, December 7.

Prominent Arkansans, including governor and a former governor, publishers of state newspapers and others, will speak.

Included in the list are Governor Parnell, former Governor George Donaghey, president of the Arkansas Tuberculosis association, A. B. Toland, grand master of the Free and Accepted Masons of Arkansas, H. H. Fiskell, editor of the Little Rock Gazette, J. S. Parks, publisher of the Fort Smith Southwest Times Record, and Judge Joseph M. Hill of Fort Smith, chairman of the Arkansas Construction Commission who is in charge of the building program.

In the new structures are three hospital buildings, a nurses' home, a dining room serving two buildings. "One of the hospital buildings" has been named in honor of the late Dr. John Stewart for many years superintendent of the institution. Another has been named after Dr. George Brown of Conway, a member of the first board of trustees, and the third for Dr. John S. Shibley of Paris, superintendent of the sanatorium. The present hospitalization facility for 500 patients is in contrast to 250 days when small individual patients were cared for a maximum of 100 patients.

Youth Faces Trial For Killing Mother

Killing Occurred on Farm Near Clarksville, Tex. Last April

CLARKSVILLE, Tex.—(AP)—George Lloyd Baker, 20, will go to trial here Friday for killing his mother, Mrs. G. W. Baker.

The youth shot the mother as she and his brother, Barney, sought to take away from his goods, which had been taken by the father, who had been estranged from Mrs. Baker for several months prior to the killing on last April 25.

To County Attorney B. C. Jones, Baker has told the story of his leaving home because of cruelty to him by Mrs. Baker. When his father and mother separated, he went to live with his father, who died about two weeks before the killing. They farmed together, and when the father died, he would George, some personal effects which had been mortgaged for funds for the spring planting.

George said he wanted his mother not to take the goods away. He said while plowing, he saw the mother and brother drive away with the goods. He obtained a shotgun, and fired a charge full in his mother's back. "It looks like an unjustifiable crime," Jones said, "but nearly all his life this boy had been taught to side with his father. He was brought up with the idea that his father was right his mother wrong."

Young Baker has been at liberty on $1,000 bond. Justice of the Peace P. B. Clark took the view at Baker's preliminary hearing, the youth was entitled to defend his property the mother attempted to take from his home without resorting to legal processes. This accounted for the low bond set.

Mena Officers In Shooting Affray

Shoot to Stop Suspected Automobile—One Man Is Struck

MENA.—While shooting to stop an Oklahoma car suspected of carrying liquor, Mena officers Tuesday night wounded Folk Warren, stockman of Okfuska, Okla. Warren was shot through the left ear when one of eight bullets fired went through the rear of the car body.

Deputy Sheriff Griffith and Night Marshal Harris were identified as officers doing the shooting. No liquor was found in the car, but Van Pelt, one of the three men in the car, was arrested for driving while drunk. Warren was not seriously hurt and returned to his home. Shooting took place on Highway 11, on the outskirts of Mena.

County Agents Withdrawn

HEMPSTEAD county lost its farm and home demonstration agents this week.

In making the announcement for the University Extension Service in yesterday's Star, T. Roy Reid said: "It is with regret that the Extension Service cannot continue to work in the county, but the county agent and the county home demonstration agent cannot be carried longer without the use of the county appropriation—and I am advised that this will not be available next year."

The Star takes this opportunity to congratulate Lynn Reid for his record of tireless effort and achievement during his several years service as county farm agent. Mr. Smith came in from Bodcaw, Nevada county, a few years back, when he had been a Smith-Hughes instructor in vocational agriculture. He grasped the more difficult problems of his field in manly fashion; he has come to be known as the county agent of Arkansas—and more than that, he has thousands of friends and supporters in Hempstead county. Miss Martha Jane Beucher, the home demonstration agent, came here only last year. She has carried on the useful tradition of the state university program of which she is

Readers of The Star are thoroughly familiar with the story of the controversy over the county agent program.
 There is no need to repeat that history now. Every Quorum in recent years has authorized the appropriations for the agents' salaries. But for one reason or another the county judge the last two years has failed to issue the salary checks. Director Reid, in his statement yesterday, indicated that the new judge who takes office the first of the year would not be likely to issue the checks either.

Mr. Reid therefore probably did the right thing in ordering the county agents to be withdrawn. We say that despite the fact that The Star was among the larger donors to the public subscription fund which helped finance the agents' salaries through 1930. We would have done so again for 1931—what's the use?

There comes a time in every community when some worthwhile public service is so involved in politics that the cause is temporarily hopeless; and the only cure is to let the issue be clarified by the people themselves.

A public subscription could have been raised again; but in November, 1931, we could hardly have been any nearer to solving the issue to a head.

The county agent work is now definitely abolished. In the next year or two we shall find out whether the people of Hempstead county actually miss it. After all, that is the real point at issue.

The Star believes in the county agent work. It is certainly in the people some time will demand that this service be restored as a tax-supported institution.

Too Much Caldwell

GEORGE MORRIS, brilliant editor of the Memphis Evening Appeal, and vice President of the Commercial Appeal company, has tendered his resignation.

Reading between the lines of his adieu, we surmise that George Morris' high ideals, and his adherence to the principles of independent journalism, prompted his sudden decision to leave from the House of Caldwell.

But George Morris will not remain idle. Great newsmen all over the world are looking for men of his type; men who are honest and earnest and who can be trusted to interpret the news of these turbulent times.—West Point (Tex.) Times-Leader.

The Retailer

A MANUFACTURER quoted by John F. Sinclair blames the present dull business situation mostly on the retail dealer.

"The retailer has no nerve," he says. He plays safe, so that in fact the wholesaler and the jobber are largely carrying the load today.

Yet the retailer's position is easily understood. He is the fellow in touch with the consumer. He knows pretty well, or thinks he knows, what the consumer wants, how far he is ready to go in buying.

It is a buyer's market, not a seller's. Merchants can do a great deal to stimulate buying by wise display, advertising and price adjustment, but the big impulse must come from the consumer himself. And that may not come, forcibly enough to change the whole market trend, until he has had a little more use out of the old stuff on hand.—Pittsburgh Daily Press.

How to play Bridge
AUCTION or CONTRACT
 by Wynne Ferguson
 Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

ARTICLE No. 24

"A word to the wise is sufficient" is a well-known saying, and its application to Auction is well illustrated by the following comment of a well-known player. Read and ponder his remarks carefully, so that you will have in your own mind that "A word to the wise is sufficient."

"After many years of experiment, the art of bidding in Auction and Contract Bridge has developed along fairly well defined lines. Unfortunately, however, these methods of bidding which are the result of expert play and opinion are not generally known nor thoroughly understood.

"Non-efficiency" is a mild term of disparagement for the "hit-or-miss" methods of the average player. Bidding, to be efficient, must be systematically directed towards developing, either for attack or defense, the combined strength of two hands.

"Most bidding is 'non-efficient' for the reason that players usually show the minimum consideration for their partner's hand and the maximum for their own. And, either because of selfishness or ignorance, fail to appreciate the importance of bidding twenty-six cards.

"That 'thirteen cards cannot be played successfully against twenty-six,' is an axiom of the game. An improper lead or discard usually calls for more criticism than does an improper bid.
 If it be conceded as highly important to combine the efficiency of two hands in play, then it must be conceded as equally important that they be combined in bidding. If players could be brought to a realization of their shortcomings in this respect, they would then begin to see the advantage of some system in bidding having for its objective not only greater efficiency, but the establishment of confidence between partners.

"Another very important reason for systematic cooperation between partners is that the extreme rapidity of the present game leaves no time for experiments, or errors in bidding. Auction statistics show that about one out of every two deals goes game irrespective of points already scored; also that any points so scored are of assistance in going game about once in twenty-five times.

"It follows that faulty or half-way tactics, either unsound or undecided, achieve little except ultimate defeat.
 There is but one goal of supreme importance in Auction and Contract—and that is Game, or its equivalent in penalties. Next in importance is saving Game. Every other consideration is of relative unimportance. In Auction and Contract there is no time like the

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take.
 Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.
 Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.
 Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Daily WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
 NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—There are 47, 847,206 young Americans under 18 years of age. As the next generation, civilization is to be litera-ly in their hands.

One-fourteenth to one-twelfth of their total time is spent in school.
 A third is spent at home in sleep.
 Varying small amounts beyond that are spent daily in the home. Probably 99 per cent of children are in homes, though "samplings" indicate that one home in four is a broken home. And over 40 per cent of the first 13 years is spent outside home and school.

So says the Committee on Youth Outside the Home and School of the White House Conference on Child Health and Protection, a committee headed by James E. West, chief executive of the Boy Scouts. The committee selected 14 organized agencies and influences which boys and girls met in that 40 per cent of their time. It gives some interesting figures in naming them.

Many Church Contacts
 "The churches 'deal with probably 25,000,000 persons." The girl agencies touch 1,500,000 girls during their leisure time. The boy agencies enroll 2,100,000. The neighborhood agencies attract 1,400,000.

Motion pictures catch the eye of 115,000,000 customers a week, of whom one-third are under 16.

Other commercial amusements lure 2,000,000 persons daily.

Radio, with its 13,475,000 sets, probably has more than 60,000,000
 listeners.

Playground facilities serve 2,250,
 000 children every day.

Most children read, but 20,000,000
 have no public library facilities.

Camping is indulged in by probably 8,000,000 persons, including 3,000,000 young ones.

Other conditions and factors encountered by youth: Industry, with its 4,000,000 youth employed full-time and 2,000,000 part time. Rural life, with 55 per cent of youth living in rural territory. Institutions, which stand "in loco parentis" for about one per cent.

Four Million Work
 Of the approximately 43,000,000

Need More Libraries

The influence of commercial amusements under business auspices are in the main unwholesome, the committee declares.

It recommends adequate educational radio broadcasting as a youth influence, eliminating as a pernicious programs by active expression of public opinion and good taste and more consideration of younger listeners.

And more public libraries, it says,
 are needed for the 20,000,000 children and 34,000,000 adults who now go without.

"We hear considerable criticism of youth," the committee says finally. "We are unanimously convinced that, in spite of the conditions and difficulties they face, youth today are cleaner, finer, sturdier of purpose, and sturdier of character than any generation we have known."

SOCIETY

Mrs. Sid Henry Telephone 821

We will start anew this morning with a higher fairer creed;
We will cease to stand complaining of our ruthless neighbor's greed;
We will cease to sit repining while our duty's call is clear;
We will waste no moment whining, and our heart shall know no fear;
We will look sometimes about us for the things that merit praise;
We will search for hidden beauties that elude the grumbler's gaze;
We will try to find contentment in the paths that we must tread;
We will cease to have resentments when another moves ahead;
We will not be swayed by envy when our rival's strength is shown;
We will not deny his merit, but we'll strive to prove our own;
We will try to see the beauty spread before us, rain or shine;
We will cease to peach you duty, and be more concerned with mine.

Home Life to Get $807,000 In Cash

Life Insurance Division Will Benefit From Inter-Southern Sale

LITTLE ROCK, (AP)—Approval by Federal Judge John J. Gore, at Nashville, Tenn., Wednesday noon, of a plan for sale of 1,900,000 shares of stock in the Inter-Southern Life Insurance Company of Louisville, Ky., is expected to go far toward rehabilitating the Home Life Insurance Company of this city.

Judge Gore, following a hearing Wednesday morning, announced he would approve the sale and instructed attorneys to prepare a suitable order for his consideration Saturday morning. A. B. Banks and associates of this city own 538,000 shares of Inter-Southern stock, and the sale price agreed on of $1.50 a share, would give local interests $807,000. The interests of Mr. Banks and associates have been assigned by them for the benefit of the Home Life Insurance Company.

J. J. Harrison, vice president of the Home Life, when advised by the Arkansas Democrat of Judge Gore's ruling, expressed gratification. "Judge Gore's decision, I believe, removes the last obstacle to the sale of the stock," he said. "Its effect so far as the Home Life is concerned, will be to repair the impairment by the closing of three banks in this state. One of these banks has been reorganized and plans are under way for the reopening of the other two."

Mr. Harrison said he felt confident the Home Life could be saved and put on a thoroughly sound basis by the sale.

'Setters' Giving Up Job of Motherhood to Machines

DES MOINES, Ia.—(AP)—The setting hen is fast losing out to modern machinery in hatching eggs, and, according to the modern science of hatchery, is better off because deprived of the privilege of motherhood. H. E. Gordon of the Iowa Poultry Improvement Association told chicken raisers in convention here. Incubation of incubators upon the hen's hatching output has caused 40,000,000 of the state's 100,000,000 baby chicks to be hatched by artificial means in the last year, Gordon said. Hens lay better, and are in better condition physically when they are not put on the nest, Gordon said.

Plane Lands in Sea Occupants Unhurt

Woman Swims Ashore For Aid—Fishermen Rescue Plane

CATANIA, Italy.—(AP)—Miss Winifred Spooner, British aviator, flying from Croydon to Capetown, Friday was forced down in the water near here. When the plane landed in the water, Miss Spooner, jumped into the sea and swam to shore to get aid for her companion, Capt. E. C. T. Edwards, who remained with the plane, which did not sink. Although still dark when the forced landing was made Miss Spooner, who is 23 years old, jumped into the water and swam ashore to secure help from some men she found at a near-by railroad camp. In the meantime Captain Edwards had attracted the attention of some fishermen, who came to his rescue. In landing Miss Spooner was bruised about the nose and lips, while Captain Edwards suffered injuries on the forehead and nose.

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—(AP)—Federal District Judge John J. Gore, announced Wednesday that he would approve the sale of approximately 1,900,000 shares of Inter-Southern Life Insurance Company stock in which Caldwell & Company was interested, to the Keystone Holding Company of Hammond, Ind., at $1.50 a share.

At the conclusion of a hearing on application of receivers for the investment banking house to sell the stock, in which it was set forth Caldwell & Company was interested either direct or indirectly, Judge Gore expressed the opinion that the sale was proper and for the best interests of all concerned.

He directed attorneys to prepare an order for his consideration Saturday, the order to direct that proceeds be held in court pending certification as to the validity of claims of the various pledges of stock.

In their petition asking approval of the sale the receivers said that practically all of the stock in the Inter-Southern in which Caldwell & Company has any interest is either pledged to secure debts or to secure the performance on the part of Caldwell & Company of certain contracts or is involved under the terms of some repurchase agreement.

There are a little more than 3,000,000 shares of Inter-Southern stock outstanding.

The receivers' petition for sale was opposed by the Corporation Commission of the state of North Carolina as receivers for the Central Bank and Trust Company of Asheville.

School Offers 30 Days Free Course

Subjects in Practical Education Are to Be Given

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark.—(AP)—A unique educational course of study will be instituted at Arkansas Polytechnic College beginning January 5 and extending one month.

To place educational facilities within reach of young men who for various reasons have been unable to enroll regularly in college, the school has offered a month's course in practical subjects free.

The work is sponsored by the agricultural department and includes instruction in education, English, business arithmetic, social psychology, farm management and rural economics.

Each instructor has arranged his course to present the salient and practical points of his particular subject. The course has been divided into two classes. The first is for young men between the ages of 16 and 22, and the second for men between 22 and 30.

O. O. Hughes, head of the department of agriculture of the college, said the course is to give educational advantages to those who really desire them but are unable to realize their desire. "We believe these boys really want to attend school if they can get what they need," Hughes said.

"We believe every boy today should know how to write a business letter, should know something about elementary arithmetic, and should know something of the existing social conditions."

"This we intend to furnish for those who desire it in our course. We chose this time because surveys show us farmers have more leisure time at this date than at any other in the year."

'Dead Men' Appear and Mourners Flee

Supposed Dead Men Return Alive; Those Awaiting Bodies Stampede

CAMDEN—(AP)—Herein is the story of two "corpses," whose very lifelike actions disrupted their funerals. Recently the South Camden home of Ed Wiggins, negro socialite and prominent ice peddler, was gripped in a gloomy pall. It was a sad occasion and flowers were the order of the day.

Ed and his son, Mike, were the victims in an automobile accident in Little Rock—so rumor had it.

Mourners filled the Wiggins home to await return of the bodies. "Then came an automobile. It's them," breathed mourning friends relatives.

Into the house came Ed and Mike, not horizontally, but in the manner usually ascribed to the living. They were very much alive. They were astonished, even nonplussed by the occasion.

Here, so supposedly reliable sources have it, the embarrassment became so acute that mourners departed in haste. Windows became a popular means of exit and not a few of the mor agile leaped the porch railing.

Ed and Mike were left among the flowers to better digest their "demise."

Many New Uses For Old Household Standby

Women have long considered "Standard" Parowax the ideal seal when making jelly, jams, and preserves. But practical housewives have discovered many new uses for Parowax.

On "Blue Monday," a stick of Parowax, shaved into the wash boiler, will help to take the dirt out of clothes.

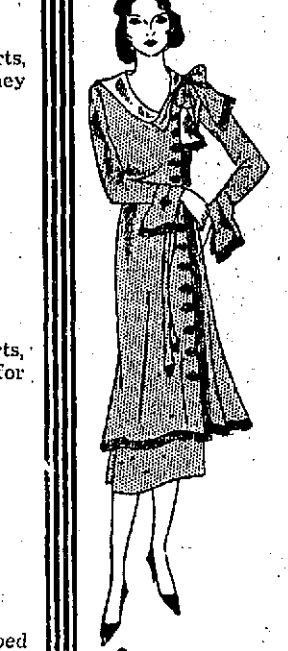

A teaspoonful of hot Parowax mixed with ¼ pound of hot starch imparts smoothness, lustre, and finish; and prevents the iron from sticking.

Parowax is splendid to use in cleaning fowl and game. Clip the wings, and remove the coarse guard feathers, leaving the bird covered with a clean paint brush, coat the bird with Parowax. When cool and hard, simply pull off the Parowax and every feather lifts off.

When putting away in all tools, knives, etc., which will not be used for some time, melt Parowax and cover the implements with a coating of it. This is a sure preventive of rust.

got her story out of her, you bet!
Nothing to it, though. One of my boys—Collins, it was—found her in that short, dark hall that runs between the Selim woman's bedroom and the kitchen. She's a pup she was. Said she'd—"
"I'd better have her up and question her, if she's able," Dundee interrupted, as tactfully as possible.
"It seems that she had an ab-scessed tooth out today, with gas and a local anesthetic. . . . Now, Miss Raymond, will you tell me exactly what you meant by saying it must have been Lydia Carr who killed her mistress?"
"I certainly will!" the red-haired girl cried defiantly. "What I can't see is why Tracey and Lois and Dex—Mr. Sprague didn't think of it, too. It's as plain as—"
"Yes, as the nose on my face," Dundee cut in grimly, but with a glance at Strawn. "Just stick to the facts, however, Miss Raymond, and maybe we can all agree with you."
"Well, when Mr. Sprague and I went into the dining room, there were Lois and Tracey cutting up like a couple of children," Janet began, determined to take her time.

Tracey was trying to make Lois drink some outlandish concoction he'd mixed in a glass, and Lois was laughing and fighting him off.
When we came in, Lois said, 'Good Lord, Tracey! Get busy! Or your job as bartender will be taken away from you,' and Tracey began to get awfully busy at the sideboard."
"Guess I'd better tell it, Janet.
For what it's worth," Lois cut in impatiently. "I'm nothing more nor less than that I had to ring twice for poor Lydia before she came," she explained to Dundee.
"Tracey is full of original ideas about cocktails, and wanted some sort of blitters. He was going to shoot for Lydia, but I stepped on the button under the dining table, and the poor thing—in the basement nursing her jaw, probably—didn't hear. Tracey and I got to kidding, as Janet says, and had scarcely noticed how long Lydia was in coming. I rang again, and she came. . . . That's all!"

"That isn't all!" Janet denied angrily. "I was there when Lydia came in, and she was looking white as a ghost—except for her swollen jaw. What's more, she acted so dumb Tracey had to tell her twice what he wanted, and then spelt it for her. . . . And she said Nita didn't have any of those bitters anyway."
"An open-and-shut case against poor Lydia!" Penny Crain cut in derisively. "Ge pluck daisies Janet! You'd be of a lot more help."
"Here's your maid, Bonnie," Captain Strawn announced lazily, as one of his plainclothesmen appeared in the arch between dining and living rooms, dragging by the hand a woman who was resisting strangely, her apron pressed to her face.
"You are Lydia Carr?" Dundee asked, his voice kinder than it had been for many minutes. "Don't be afraid. And I'm sorry about the tooth. . . . Come along in. I'll not keep you long."
The woman's knees seemed about to fail her, but with a sudden effort she released the detective's grip on her wrist. Very tall, very bony in her black cotton dress.
Pathetic, too, with her thin, iron-gray hair, and that apron concealing the left half of her face. It was odd, Dundee thought, that it was not the swollen jaw she chose to cover.
Mrs. Dunlap sprang to her feet and hurried across the room to where Lydia Carr stood.
"Don't mind, Lydia, please. You must not be so sensitive," she said gently, and even more gently pulled down the concealing apron. . . .
"Good God!" Dundee breathed, and Strawn nodded his understanding of the younger man's horror.
For the left half of Lydia Carr's face was drawn and puckered and ridged almost out of human resemblance. Even the eye was ruined—a milky ball which the puckered,

Kiddie Club to Meet at Saenger Saturday

The Mickey Mouse Kiddie Club will have its second meeting at the Saen-ger Theatre Saturday, starting at 1:45 o'clock. There will be a special program for the children in addition to the regular program, consisting of the Big Trail, Mickey Mouse and the second chapter of the chapter play,
"The Indians Are Coming."
In order to explain the rules of the club to those who have not yet called for their membership badge we will give them as follows: Every Saturday at the matinee fifteen numbers, selected from the numbers on the membership buttons will be posted in front of the theatre. Children having the buttons bearing the same numbers will be admitted free at that performance by showing their badges to the boxman. During the performance other numbers will be selected from the stage and various gifts and prizes will be awarded to the children in the audience having similarly numbered badges. Other prize offers as well as special performances to which club members will be admitted at reduced price will be announced from time to time. Children who haven't yet re-
